

Shelli Fridenstine is the H.R. Director at Ross Environmental Services, Inc. in Elyria, Ohio. Her 25-year H.R. career has included work in the public, private, non-profit and educational sectors. She has worked for small family-owned businesses, large international corporations and a few right up the middle. An HR generalist at heart, Shelli tends to gravitate towards leadership, employee relations and employee development. Shelli is married and has two teenage sons. When not working Shelli spends her time on their family farm with their dairy cows, and any extra time is spent extreme couponing.
