

EIRA JONES

Eira is the employment tax practice leader in Deloitte US. A global employment tax specialist with over 16 years' experience, she has worked with some of the world's largest organizations on the design, delivery and taxation of employee remuneration. Her particular areas of focus include global payroll tax consulting and helping organizations manage employment tax challenges - from handling new legislation to fixing broken controls and processes. Eira built her career in the City of London and the South West of England before transferring to the US.